A piece of the Southport traffic puzzle:

South River Road bridge would connect Southport to north West Sac and freeway

Rendering of the future, planned 'Pioneer Bluff Bridge' connecting South River Road and the Gateway area. Design features include 'gold picket fencing' and a pair of pedestrian overlooks.

It's a long-planned piece of Southport infrastructure:

The City of West Sacramento is now soliciting bids for construction of a new bridge to connect the northern cul-de-sac of South River Road to its opposite on the south side of the barge canal.

The new bridge is expected to cost just under $10 million, and to be finished by September of 2014. The costs are entirely picked up by a state grant originally intended the Port of West Sacramento deepen its shipping channel. But that dredging project has been delayed.

The new bridge will cross the barge canal with the Sacramento River nearby on one side and the existing Jefferson Boulevard bridge on the other. It's meant to help connect Southport to the freeway and to northern West Sacramento, and that connection is also expected to help spur urban redevelopment of the now-industrial South River Road corridor between the freeway and the planned bridge. (One of the first projects in the door on that corridor could be a brewery and beer garden reported on by the News-Ledger on June 26).

The new bridge will also provide another piece of the "loop road" system intended by the city and its hired master planners two decades ago for Southport. The plan envisioned most of the traffic flowing through Southport to be not on Jefferson Boulevard, but on a traffic loop flowing south from the freeway on South River Road, across lower Southport, and back north on Southport Parkway.

The southern arc of that loop remains to be built, but the News-Ledger asked Mayor Christopher Cabaldon if the new South River Road connection still looks that as important as it did to city planners in the early '90s.

"It absolutely is," answered Cabaldon. "We're not done with Southport, and the loop is not complete because the (planned) villages on the east side of Jefferson are not done yet. Once the loop is complete, that will be the most important arterial in and out of Southport."

He added that, when Southport is fully built out, the loop will carry traffic "on a reasonably similar magnitude to Jefferson Boulevard." Jefferson now does the heavy lifting for traffic in Southport, although residents can also opt to use Lake Washington Boulevard as a way in and out of the south-city.

Design of the planned Pioneer Bluff Bridge was handled for the City by Dokken Engineering.

The new bridge is planned to be one lane in each direction (expandable to two), with separate six-foot bike lanes, six-foot walkways (separated from traffic by a barrier) and a two-foot center median. It will be decorated with a "gold picket railing" and a half-circle pedestrian overlook at mid-span on each side.

The bridge will measure 615 feet long and 80 feet wide, according to a city staff report.

What it won't do is move. Or climb very much.

The federal government has decommissioned the West Sacramento barge canal as a navigable waterway. That means the new bridge doesn't have to be designed tall enough for ships to pass underneath, and it doesn't have to get out of their way as a drawbridge would. So West Sacramento can build this new bridge low and relatively cheap.

The bridge project includes installation of signal lights at South River Road and 15th Street. It doesn't include renovation or expansion of South River Road itself – a project that will wait for another day.

Wooden friend missing from front porch

Southport woman, victim of unusual theft, just wants the bear back -- no questions asked.

By Daryl Fisher
News-Ledger Features Editor

Last weekend, Marlene Perini woke up as she always does and went outside her Alder Way home to get her Sunday newspaper. She quickly spotted her paper, but to her shock, her beloved wooden bear was no longer on the front porch as it has been for more than two decades.

"I bought my wonderful hard-carved wooden bear at a crafts show 25 years ago," explained Marlene. "He was created by a very talented artist who used a chainsaw to do most of the work and he did it right in front of my eyes as I waited. And after all of these years of sitting on my front porch, he is almost part of the family. He is always decorated for the holidays, surrounded by pretty poinsettias at Christmas time and a flag or spinning wheel in his hand on the 4th of July. I have lived in the very same house in the first subdivision they ever created in Southport for a very long time and nothing has ever been stolen off my front porch before. I live less than a mile away from Our Lady of Grace Catholic School and it makes you wonder what the world is coming to."

Marlene is not really interested in getting anyone into any trouble, she just wants her bear back.

"Whoever you are who took my bear," said Marlene, "just please put it back on my front porch right where you found it, and there will be no questions asked. Or since it is such a unique looking bear, if anybody has seen it around town, please contact the police since they know I am looking for it. He and I will both be a lot happier if he is back on my front porch where he belongs."

'Parvo' alert at dog park

The City of West Sacramento on Friday issued a warning about a possible canine parvovirus threat at the dog park on Stone Boulevard.

A local dog was reported to have developed the contagious disease. The dog had frequented the Sam Combs Dog Park, 205 Stone Blvd.

"Following the advice of veterinarians, city staff completed steps to minimize the further spread of the virus," said a statement on the City website. "Unvaccinated animals should avoid using Sam Combs Park at the present time. Consult your vet for more information. Canine Parvovirus is not known to infect humans."

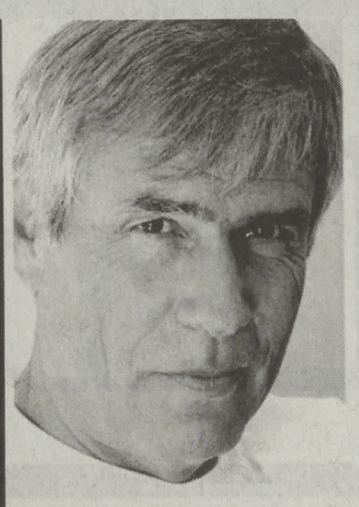
Minding my own business when I got 'barked'

Note: Daryl is taking the week off from column writing. Below is one of his favorites from the past.

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

Last Sunday morning dawned as usual. I reluctantly crawled out of bed, took a quick shower, stuck a couple of pieces of bread into the toaster and yelled, "Has anybody brought in the newspaper yet?"

"You could go outside and get the darn thing yourself," yelled back my beloved daughter. "Your leg isn't broken you know."

"But I'm making myself some breakfast," I quickly replied.

"And why do you always have to read the Sunday newspaper from one end to the other?" she asked. "Don't you think that's a little weird?"

"There's nothing weird about wanting to be informed about what's going on in the world," I assured her.

"But you spend at least two hours every Sunday morning doing it," she said. "Why don't you just go online like everyone else or watch the noon news on TV or something? Think of all the time you'd save."

"Just go get the newspaper, okay?"

"You go get it."

"Enough!" suddenly interrupted my wife. "I'll go get the newspaper, okay? Just stop yelling at each other. It's Sunday morning for heaven's sake."

My wife opened the front door just as my toast popped up, but I still heard her gasp. "What's the problem?" I asked her. "Did they forget to deliver the paper again? Please, don't tell me there's no Sunday newspaper."

"I'm afraid it's worse than that," said my wife, her eyes as big as saucers. "There's bark all over our front porch."

"What?" I asked, sure I hadn't heard her correctly. "Did you say someone barfed on the front porch?"

"No, not barf! Bark!"

"What in the world are you talking about?" I asked, wanting to butter my toast before it got cold but also wanting to go take a look at the front porch.

"Somebody has dumped a whole bag or two of bark chips on the front porch," she said, covering her mouth with her hand and slowly shaking her head from side to side.

"Now who would do something as stupid as that?" asked my daughter, who had joined her mother at the front door.

Cold toast or not, I had to see what they were talking about. I hurried over to the front door and sure enough, there was at least 20 pounds of red bark chips piled a foot high on the front porch. "Now why would anyone want to do that?" I asked, even more surprised at the mess I was looking at than my wife and daughter.

"Maybe someone thinks we should take better care of the flower beds or something," suggested my wife.

"The flower beds look just fine," I said, silently thinking that they would actually look better with all that new bark in them.

"Maybe one of your students from the high school is playing a little prank on you?" offered my daughter. "Just about everyone knows where you live, and you know how students like to jerk around substitute teachers."

"That's possible, I guess," I said.

"Gee, Dad," said my daughter, beginning to break into laughter. "You've been barked! I don't think I've ever heard of someone being barked before. It's probably a first. At least they didn't throw a bunch of toilet paper up in our tree."

"It's not very funny," I said. "Plus it makes absolutely no sense. I mean, what statement is a young person trying to make when he or she barks you?"

"Who knows?" said my wife, suddenly losing interest in the whole thing. "I'll go wake up one of the boys and have him throw the wood chips in the garbage."

"Now don't do that," I said. "No use wasting all that perfectly good bark. I'll put it all in the front flower bed and that way whoever did it will see that it ended up with a happy home."

Later that day, still puzzled over being barked, I decided to call a friend of mine (I'll call him Steve) who has read lots of mystery novels and is really good at coming up with perfectly logical motives for bizarre behavior. Plus he lives in upwardly mobile Davis, and that of course qualifies him to pontificate on subjects of this nature.

> I hurried over to the front door and sure enough, there was at least 20 pounds of red bark chips piled a foot high on the front porch.
> Now, why would anyone want to do that?

Anyway, I told him the whole story, how my wife had gone to the front door to get the Sunday newspaper only to discover that the Fisher family had been barked. I explained in great detail what the bark looked like, what size the average wood chip was, how it had been left in two neat little piles on the porch, and how the bags it had come from were left on the driveway. I even told him how being barked leaves one feeling somewhat violated.

Finally, after I had poured out the whole story, I said, "Well, Steve, what do you think?"

He paused for a moment, obviously giving some serious thought to everything I had told him, and then said:

"Well, if you ask me, Daryl, I think you're probably making too mulch out of it."

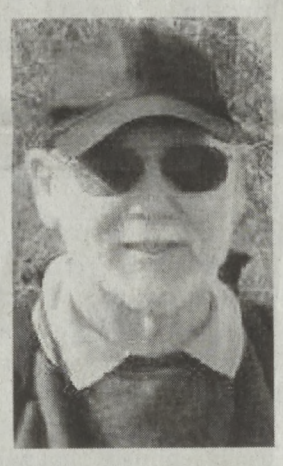
Obituaries



William Harry "Bill" Wingfield

Bill Wingfield died unexpectedly on June 28, 2013. He was born on May 19, 1938 in Sedalia, Missouri to Harry and Lillian Newman Wingfield. He spent much of his youth on the farm of his grandparents and graduated from Smith-Cotton High School in Sedalia.

Bill met his first wife, Janice Fowler, during high school and they went on to have four children as Bill earned degrees at Central Missouri State University (BA), the University of Missouri (Masters), and Oregon State University (Doctorate) before being hired as a fish virologist by the California Department of Fish and Game in Sacramento, where he worked until his retirement in 1999.

Bill and his second wife, Jeri Hughes Wingfield, were married in 1981. They shared many interests and adventures over the years, loved each other's company, and also shared a love of the community they called home.

Bill was a naturalist who loved gardening and animals, especially birds, which he fed regularly. He shared plants with all of his friends and hosted a plant sale each year as a fundraiser for the West Sacramento Historical Society. He was a good man who came from modest beginnings and he never forgot to give back. He volunteered at the Mustard Seed School for homeless children in Sacramento and delivered carloads of gifts to the needy at Christmas and planted gardens for them. He also led school tours at the Nimbus Fish Hatchery and rescued many cats and dogs over the years. He was a great friend who brought laughter and joy to all those around him and he will be greatly missed by his family and all those who knew and loved him.

In addition to his wife, Jeri, of West Sacramento, Bill is survived by his four children, Julia Adams of Fair Oaks, CA; Sarah Blunt of Rydal, PA; Andrew Wingfield of Alexandria, VA; and Anna Wingfield of Napa, CA. He is also survived by 14 grandchildren.

A Celebration of Life gathering and pot-luck meal will be held on July 21 at 1 pm at 1704 Deerwood Street in West Sacramento. All of Bill's friends and family are invited. In lieu of flowers, the family suggests a donation to a nature-related charity.

'THE HEART OF THE CITY': West Sac youth & sports happenings

BY DON SCHATZEL

It's the June parade of Champions! The march of the championships continues – time to celebrate West Sac excellence in sports at all ages and games!

Too bad June has to end, but here's hoping July brings more championships.

West Sac Water Polo is going to the Junior Olympics. The 18-U (age 18-and-under) boys, after a two day tournament, have qualified to represent this city in Orange County in a nationwide Junior Olympic tournament. Members of the team (now fundraising for the trip) are Austin "Junior" Stewart, Christopher Irish, Hunter Hartman, Jeret Tiller, Lucas Talbott, Adam Rogers, goalie Stetson Tate.

The U-16 (under 16) boys water polo team competed in the Clovis Tournament in an Olympic-size pool over 12 games. The U-16 team is Bret Bachmeier, Johnathan Keilman, Julian Wright, Brennan Whipple, Quinn Reidel, Ryan Delarosa, Tyler "Eggnog" Packham, and goalie Cameron Guiliano-Puzi.

All players play at the River City High School pool and many are members of the West Sacramento Dolphins swim club. To help with the team's Junior Olympics travel expenses, call "Coach Moe" at 530-848-7273

In softball, every weekend more trophies and awards to West Sacramento.

Heck, if you are going to Reno to play might as well win: the West Sac Attack 10-U (age 10 and under team) did just that by winning the "Reno Fastpitch Freaks Tournament." They did so with a tournament record of 5-0-1, and by beating teams such as Reno Fastpitch, Sac Hitterz, and Lassen SWAT.

The players are; Claudia Medina, Mari Cano,Hailey Luna, Laure Garcia, Isabella Mendez, Vanessa Hensley, Jessica Baum, Chloe Kitchens, Reyna Sandoval, Amaya Pentega,and Lilly Adversalo!!

All girls batted over .500. Reno never knew what hit them.

West Sac Attack U-14 also won their Sacramento tournament, and last weekend won their tournament in Manteca and followed up with another big tournament win in Elk Grove.

The Cordova Fury was led by our own Hannah Willover, who hit the first pitch for a home run. Ally Snyder pitched and Celina Vallejos played shortstop. The team won their NSA tournament in Galt.

Then the Fury won the DF Tournament, going 5-1. Ally pitched again, Hannah went 8-15 and in the championship game, they defeated the Nor Cal Elite of Fairfield with West Sacramento's own Breanna Viktor pitching for the Elite.

The U-10 Sac Hitterz won their tournament at the Sac Sports Complex with West Sacramento's Macy McCann and catcher Cammy McGinnist on the "Hitterz." Macy drove in the winning run in the championship game!

West Sac's Kayla Lynch plays for the Foothill Gold U-12 team on their way to Tennessee in a National level Tournament, and they made it to the championship game, playing up a division, in last weeks DF U-14 Tournament.

Watch out, here comes the next generation of high school softball standouts! Good luck to the U-10 West Sac Girls Little League softball District 6 Champions, and now it's on to the sectionals!

Congratulations to the West Sac Relay For Life walkathon. The team-oriented fundraiser joined the fight against cance, generating $30,000!

We're into July and our famous 100 degree heat, but continued great success is on the way.

Different paths to UC Davis:

West Sacramento's Chris Salazar graduated this spring from UC Davis with a bachelor's degree in civil engineering -- with honors. The 22-year old earned a full academic ride in the school's master's program in structural engineering.

His path to UCD took him from River City High School, through Sacramento City College.

Brother Guillermo, 18, has taken a different path to the same school. The three time Little League all-star and graduate of Rio Americano wasn't initially accepted to UC Davis as a college freshman. But his pitching and hitting caught the attention of the university's baseball coaches -- and that, along with his academic record, earned him a spot among the Division I Aggies.

This year's UCD baseball team press guide will feature Guillermo Salazar and a listing of his hometown -- West Sacramento.

BOOKS from p. 5

Burr's well. Citizens were outraged by the brutal murder, and suspicion immediately focused on Weeks, who was charged and jailed. Weeks' brother, an influential architect, possessed the financial resources to hire a legal dream team, Hamilton and Burr.

The two lawyers were convinced that Weeks was innocent. They put aside their differences to defend the young man and prevent a conviction fueled by public anger. The real danger was that Weeks might be lynched before a trial could even be scheduled. Levi was eventually acquitted, but murder was never solved.

This is more than an account of an old case, it is an absorbing legal thriller. Collins not only writes about the crime but also makes the first break in the case in more than 200 years as he reveals the name of the likely killer. This is a cold case that has suddenly become quite hot.

ELLE FANNING in 'GINGER AND ROSA'

PICKS OF THE WEEK

" Trance" (R) -- After a priceless painting is stolen, one of the thieves can't quite remember where he put it. It's all because of a bang on the head suffered by art dealer Simon (James McAvoy) during the heist. The gangster in charge of the robbery (Vincent Cassel) hires a gorgeous hypnotist (Rosario Dawson) to delve into Simon's mind and find out where he stashed the painting. The lines between memory and reality, lies and truth all start to twist as each scene adds another layer of intrigue.

Written and directed by Danny Boyle (creative force behind "Slumdog Millionaire"), "Trance" will keep your attention, despite all the confusion. Boyle is an accomplished director who deploys visual spectacle with care. Even with a story so murky, Boyle is able to make all of the head-scratching pay off.

"Ginger and Rosa" (PG-13) -- This 1960s coming-of-age drama is actually good. In 1962 London, Ginger (Elle Fanning) and Rosa (Alice Englert) are teenagers and best friends. Ginger becomes involved in the ban-the-bomb movement, and she becomes fixated on fixing the looming threat of nuclear war. Rosa is more interested in boys and church -- an odd combination, but this is a movie about people who are on the edge of self-awareness. Interesting conflicts and characters arise, all orbiting around a stellar performance from Fanning.

"Welcome to the Punch" (R) -- This is another British crime thriller starring James McAvoy, but unlike "Trance" discussed above, this one is not good. In a world where all lights must be blue-filtered and constantly swinging around, a cop (McAvoy) and criminal mastermind Jacob Sternwood (Marc Strong) foster a deadly grudge. The game is stepped up when Jacob's son is shot. This movie sure loves its gunplay, but doesn't know what to do with it. The excitement-per-bullet factor is disturbingly low for a movie with so much bangbang.

DOG OF THE WEEK

" Love and Honor" (PG-13) -- Two soldiers in the Vietnam War make a trip back to the United States while they're on leave -- one of them needs to check up on his girlfriend, and the other one (Liam Hemsworth) is going along for the laughs. However, it's 1969, and now everyone under the age of 35 is a hippie (that's how it happened, right?) The first guy's girlfriend isn't his anymore, and Hemsworth hooks up with a cute, anti-war blonde (Teresa Palmer) because he made up a story about being AWOL.

The script, I strongly suspect, must have been written by a lovesick 13-year-old after watching "Forrest Gump." Occasionally, a character makes some kind of heavy-handed speech. It's nobody's idea of good drama -- watching attractive people joylessly recite whatever bland nonsense they were told to memorize.

"Duel with the Devil: The True Story of How Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr Teamed Up to Take on America's First Sensational Murder Mystery" by Paul Collins (Crown Books, $26) Reviewed by Larry Cox

During the final weeks of 1799, a struggle for power was triggered by two factions. Alexander Hamilton led the Federalists, and his rival, Aaron Burr, supported the populist Republicans. As the two most prominent lawyers in New York, both realized that as the national election approached, Manhattan could be the swing district that determined the next president.

Their animosity was swept aside when the body of a young Quaker woman was found in a well owned by Burr. In fact, they created a legal dream team to prevent a miscarriage of justice from occurring in America's first sensational murder case.

Real Truth About MSG

Monosodium glutamate, commonly known as MSG, is used as a flavor enhancer in many recipes. It's made from starch, corn sugar or molasses from sugar cane or sugar beets. MSG is produced through a natural fermentation process, much like that used to make beer, vinegar or yogurt. There's a lot of controversy -- both pro and con -- about using MSG. The following information may help you decide that you want to start using MSG in your dishes.

MSG is the sodium salt of glutamate. Glutamate is an amino acid essential for metabolism and brain function and is manufactured by the body. It occurs naturally in almost every protein-containing food we eat -- foods such as cheese, milk, mushrooms, meat, fish and many vegetables like tomatoes. When MSG is added to foods, it provides a similar flavoring function as the glutamate that occurs naturally.

T he MSG added to food is handled in the body the same way as natural glutamate found in foods. MSG contains only one-third of the sodium as table salt and is used in much smaller amounts. When MSG is used with table salt, it actually can help reduce the total amount of sodium by 20 percent to 40 percent. In addition, MSG can be helpful to the elderly, who may experience a decline in smell and taste. Adding MSG may make eating more enjoyable for older adults.

Some people feel they are sensitive to MSG, and attribute headaches and other symptoms to eating it. However, current research has not found a link between MSG and these reactions. MSG is safe for consumption, as stated by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. It is even safe for infants, as human breast milk contains glutamate.

Flavoring your dishes with MSG can enhance their taste. As a general guideline, about half a teaspoon of MSG per pound of meat or per four to six servings of vegetables should be sufficient. Overall, MSG helps make good food taste even better.

Adding MSG to my recipe for Swedish Meatballs and Gravy enhances the spices and flavors of this familiar comfort food dish.

(Additional information provided by Tammy Kliethermes, Dietetic Intern, Missouri Department of Health.)

SWEDISH MEATBALLS AND GRAVY

1 cup breadcrumbs
2 tablespoons unsalted butter
1/3 cup minced white onion
2 cloves garlic, minced
1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
2 teaspoons Kosher salt
1/4 teaspoon ground white pepper
1/2 teaspoon MSG
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
3/4 pound lean ground beef
1/2 pound lean ground pork
1 large egg plus 1 egg white, beaten
Vegetable oil, for brushing

Swedish Gravy:
2 tablespoons unsalted butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 cups low-sodium beef broth
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 cup heavy cream
1/2 teaspoon Kosher salt
1 teaspoon ground black pepper
2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
Lingonberry jam, for serving (optional)

1. Place breadcrumbs in a large bowl. Heat butter in a skillet over medium heat. Add onion, garlic, allspice, salt, white pepper and MSG, and cook, stirring, until soft, about 5 minutes. Add milk and Worcestershire sauce and bring to a simmer. Pour the milk mixture over the breadcrumbs and stir to make a thick paste; let cool. Add the beef, pork, egg and egg white to the bowl and mix until combined.

2. Brush a baking sheet with vegetable oil. Roll the meat into 1-inch balls and arrange on the prepared baking sheet. Cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate at least 1 hour.

3. Preheat oven to 400 F. Bake meatballs until cooked through, about 20 minutes.

4. Meanwhile, to make gravy, melt butter in a large skillet over medium heat. Add flour and cook, whisking, until smooth. Whisk in beef broth and Worcestershire sauce, and bring to a simmer. Add the cream and meatballs. Reduce the heat to medium low and simmer until the gravy thickens, about 10 minutes. Season with salt and black pepper. Transfer to a serving dish; sprinkle with the parsley and serve with lingonberry jam, if desired.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: Jul 24, 2013 at 8:30 in Dept. 15 located at 1100 Main Street, Ste. 300, Woodland, CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Notice is hereby given that RECONTRUST COMPANY, N.A., as duly appointed trustee pursuant to the Deed of Trust executed by CARMEN SINGH, AN UNMARRIED WOMAN, dated 08/11/2006 and recorded 8/17/2006, as Instrument No. 2006-0032067-00, in Book N/A, Page N/A, of Official Records in the office of the County Recorder of Yolo County, State of California, will sell on 08/12/2013 at 1:00PM, Ramada Inn and Suites, 1250 Halyard Drive, West Sacramento, CA, 95691, Captain Ballroom at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash or check as described below, payable in full at time of sale, all right, title, and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust, in the property situated in said County and State and as more fully described in the above referenced Deed of Trust. The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 3130 CARMEL BAY RD, WEST SACRAMENTO, CA, 956915897. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein. The total amount of the unpaid balance with interest thereon of the obligation secured by the property to be sold plus reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is $535,465.19. It is possible that at the time of sale the opening bid may be less than the total indebtedness due. In addition to cash, the Trustee will accept cashier's checks drawn on a state or national bank, a check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state. Said sale will be made, in an "AS IS" condition, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession or encumbrances, to satisfy the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust, advances thereunder, with interest as provided, and the unpaid principal of the Note secured by said Deed of Trust with interest thereon as provided in said Note, plus fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on a property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 1-800-281-8219 or visit this Internet Web site www.recontrustco.com, using the file number assigned to this case TS No. 11-0125793.
